Art Unit: 3632

This is the second office action for application number 10/621,817, Cup Holder Having Frusto-Conical Cavities, filed on July 17, 2003.

Claim Objections

Claim 13 is objected to because of the following informalities:

In line 3, "bottom" should be --a bottom--.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claims 1 and 3-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Letourneau et al. '056.

1st and 2nd
gripping
flanges

Art Unit: 3632

Letourneau et al. '056 discloses a cupholder (figures 1-3) constructed of a molded fiber material (column 3, lines 61-63) which comprises a plurality of frusto-conical cavities (10) each having a curved inner wall, three holding extensions (22, generally) extending inwardly towards a center of the cavity from the inner wall and spaced equidistantly, first and second gripping flanges (above) having first and second gripping points at lower ends thereof (above) and extending inwardly towards each other for gripping a container, and inner and outer facets (above); wherein the inner and outer facets have a facet interface edge (above) therebetween; wherein the inner facets of the flanges meet at a parabolic junction (above) along a top end thereof; wherein the holding extensions terminate at a cut-out area (above) such that the cut-out area is below the gripping flanges; wherein the base is narrower than the mouth of the cavity and has raised portions (14) with gripping regions (16) which include support regions (18); wherein the facet interface edge joints the gripping flanges along an upper end thereof, wherein the frusto-conical shape extends from a cavity mouth at a top end of the cavity to a cavity base at a bottom end of the cavity, wherein the gripping points inherently are adapted to provide a gripping force toward each other when a container is inserted into one of the cavities, wherein the raised portion of the cavity base and the flanges of each holding extension oppose each other across a rim gripping region, wherein the cupholder/cavity of Letourneau et al. '056 can perform all stated functions.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed January 3, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Art Unit: 3632

On page 10 of the response, the applicant contends, "Letourneau does not disclose...a cupholder having first and second gripping flanges extending inwardly from at least one holding extension, each of said...flanges having inner and outer facets...meeting at a facet interface edge." The Examiner disagrees. In order to assist the applicant in understanding how the cupholder of Letourneau et al. '056 clearly teaches/shows all such elements, the Examiner has included the above drawings clearly indicating all claimed elements of the applicant's invention. It is noted that due to space restrictions, the Examiner only indicated, for instance, inner and outer facets for a single gripping flange.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
